

WEEK 18: Science Facts Great and Small

■ Using the Right Word, Abbreviations, Verb (Irregular), Spelling, Numbers

Some scientists believe that our sun has shined for 5 billion yrs. and will probably continue doing so for another 5 billion years.

■ Comma (Between Independent Clauses), Using the Right Word

Human eyes see things upside down but our amazing brain turns them right side up again.

■ Comma (To Enclose Information and Nonrestrictive Phrases and Clauses), Using the Right Word

Alice Watson Ph.D. learned us that tidal waves which travel as fast as speeding bullets are caused by underwater earthquakes.

■ Using the Right Word, Comma (To Separate Phrases and Clauses)

Although some people give there's a better workout than others do the tongue is usually the strongest muscle in the human body.

■ Subject-Verb Agreement, Comma Splice, Pronoun-Antecedent Agreement, Comma (Interruptions)

Taste buds is not permanent bumps on your tongue, surprisingly it survive only a few days.